IRENE MORIN

ELDER

Irene Morin is an active member of the Enoch Cree Nation community. She is a residential school survivor who has recognized Blue Quills as the institution that gave her a good education foundation. Irene is a widow who raised 5 children on her own. She has worked for the past 56 years and retired a year ago. She worked for the Edmonton Separate School Board, Enoch Cree Nation, Native Counselling Services of Alberta and the Senate of Canada in Ottawa. Irene is responsible for the Annual Aboriginal Role Models of Alberta Awards and has been doing these awards for 22 years. Even though she is officially retired, she still donates her time to causes she believes in; such as the Alberta Council of Womens Shelters and the World Indigenous Games International 2017, to name a few.
